the first time in the history of the world, that the people of the United States have been able to elect a President by a majority of their representatives in Congress, and that they have done it without any violence or opposition. This is a great victory for the people of the United States, and it is a victory which will be remembered

The "Large additions" were collected by R. Bell, of Philadelphia, the original publisher of "Common sense", and published after his quarrel with Paine, as a device to help the sale of his third edition against that printed about the same time by Paine's new publishers, W. and T. Bradford. With the exception of "The American patriot's prayer", of which he is perhaps the author, Paine had nothing to do with them. Accord-
